Moms Celebrate Mother's Day with Reno local leaders for Summit in Support of Clean Air, Kids' Health

(Reno, NV) – As families across the country celebrate Mother's Day, the local members of Moms Clean Air Force Nevada will join members of the Nevada State Assembly, local civil society leaders and staff from Senator Rosen's office to celebrate the critical role mothers play in protecting our children and our planet from harm. This year, moms are thinking big about what we want for Mother's Day, because there's just too much at stake when it comes to our children's health. The summit will also highlight the unprecedented collaboration between the local, state and federal elected officials to combat the climate crisis and protect the future of Nevada's children.

What: Moms Clean Air Force "Mom Power Summit"

When: Saturday, May 11th 2019, 11 AM – 2 PM, press should arrive promptly at 11:30 AM

Where: Miguel Rivera Park, 3925 Neil Road, Reno, NV 89502

Who: Sarah Peters, Assemblywoman
Brian Beffort, Sierra Club Toiyabe Chapter
Cory Hernandez, IPN
Natalie Okeson, Northern Nevada Director, Office of Senator Jackie Rosen
Jennifer Cantley, Nevada Field Consultant, Moms Clean Air Force

The Nevada Mom Power Summit will highlight the ongoing advocacy of moms in partnership with elected officials at the local and state level to take concrete steps to reduce pollution, respond to extreme weather and build resilient cities in Nevada.

This summit will also serve to celebrate Governor Sisolak's signing of the U.S. Climate Alliance in a commitment to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and the effects of climate change. Local solutions are more important than ever as our federal government rolls back critical health and environmental protections. The public is encouraged to attend this free event at which complimentary food will be served.

Moms Clean Air Force, a national community of over 1,000,000 moms and dads committed to fighting air pollution and protecting clean air for America's children, is hosting Mom Power Summits in cities across the country. There are nearly 8,000 members of Moms Clean Air Force in Nevada.
